

J.C. BALLARD'S

INSPIRED WORKS

ABOUT US

Jordan Ballard has been a writer for most of her life, a passion that has only grown with her. A student at Rogers State University, she studies Corporate Communications and Public Administration.

As a pessimistic optimist, she tends to see the world around her as something she aspires to change. In her spare time, she can often be found reading the same book for the nineteenth time.

Her dream is to be a full-time writer someday.
